

TIME TO RELAX
and explore...

There's no shortage of great family activities just a short distance from White Tower Holiday Park! You're only ten miles from Llanberis at the foot of Snowdon, and from here you can catch a train to the summit of the mountain. Or, for the more energetic, there are several different footpaths which enable you to reach the summit of Snowdon some 3,560 feet above sea level.

You can also visit Dinorwig Power Station in Llanberis - and if the family is keen on water-sports, Padarn Lake offers a wide variety of activities including windsurfing, canoeing and rafting - plus there's climbing and abseiling, with equipment available for hire on site.

The beach at Dinas Dinlle is a real attraction for adults and children alike, with ample free parking, beach shops and cafes, shallow waters and safe bathing for all ages - plus excellent bass fishing. Caernarfon Airport is at the north end of the beach, from where you can take a pleasure flight over Caernarfon Castle, the Menai Straits and Snowdon. Other local activities include horse-riding, and an 18-hole golf course.

For local indoor family activities, take a trip to Caernarfon Leisure Centre & Swimming Pool, Llandudno's Multi-Cinema Complex or Rhyll's Sea Life Centre.

IN THE HEART OF SNOWDONIA

TAKE A LOOK around...

Take a moment. Take in the peace and quiet – and take a look around at your lovely surroundings. You're in the heart of the countryside, only minutes from the beach and within sight of towering Snowdon. So take time to relax, enjoy your surroundings, and explore this beautiful and unspoilt landscape that's now your very own.

White Tower Holiday Park is just three miles south of Caernarfon and even nearer to the beach at Dinas Dinlle. In a quiet rural setting, it's ideally placed for touring North Wales, Snowdonia and the Llyn Peninsula, whose magical landscape embraces rugged mountains, cliff-tops and deserted beaches. You'll also find lovely coastal villages such as Abersoch, Nefyn and Porthmadog, whose famous Black Rock Sands are well worth a visit. From here you can catch the narrow-gauge Ffestiniog Railway steam train or visit the magical Italianate village of Portmeirion.

Nearby Caernarfon is celebrated for its castle, which was built by King Edward I during the 13th century. Travel north from Caernarfon for around eight miles and you'll discover the Britannia Bridge, gateway to Anglesey – a delightful island famous for its spectacular cliffs, beaches – and the Sea Zoo & Marine Resource Centre, one of the ten top attractions in North Wales. From Holyhead, you can catch a luxury ferry or high-speed catamaran for a day-drip to Ireland.

Closer to home, and directly behind White Tower Holiday Park, lies Forryd Bay Nature Reserve, a sanctuary for sea birds and swans, ducks and wading birds, as well as a variety of small mammals. The Welsh Highland Railway is also close at hand, and it offers great trips for the family – plus it provides magnificent views of the Menai Straits and the distant mountains of Snowdonia.
